

Mouth Morphemes

MM: moderately, normally, average, medium; with ease.

OO: small, tiny, lightly, slowly. It may mean otherwise in some contexts (e.g. very long in time as in Y-LONG-head).

CHA: very big, very large, gigantic, very tall.

AAH: far.

CS: very close; with effort or struggle.

TH: carelessly, foolishly, distractedly; melting. E.g.: melting (eg. snow, ice, chocolate), nothing (in some contexts), sticky as in glue (sometimes), sloppy, careless (in some contexts).

PUFF-cheek: fluffy, bubbly, and few other meanings. Seen in HOLD-BACK-LAUGHTER, SHORT-AND-SWEET-CUTE, etc.

Puckered lips: leisurely, deliberately

- Puckered lips “mmmm”-enjoy doing something, curious, medium sized, comfortable, write, drive, read
- Puckered lips with “awful” sign-interesting, wow
- Pursd lips-work hard, read carefully, sorry, hearing person, persevere, secret, suspect, suppress
- Pursd lips + wiggling-characteristic, the way it is

STA-STA: struggle, long process

FOR-FOR: what for, why, how come

PAH: finally, big success

SOO: tired, cold, dirty, hard, good, close call, tedious, curious

SOW: very tired, very cold, very hard, very embarrassed FISH: finish, stop it

FI^SH: finish after long or unpleasant process

PUH: give in

POW: explode, hit hard, trigger a gun, repress, hot temper, stricken, forget

Lips pulled down to one side: recent, not long ago

Lips pulled down with twinged nose-near: soon

Lips pulled down-can: possible

MUM-MUM: winning streak (games), nab many suspects

PS-PS: fancy, chic

PO: competent, good, smart

PO PO: speed boat in a race, cannon

PTH: melt, smash

Tongue out and down: experience, expert

OFF: take down, take off, remove, break up

M-M-M: interesting, “oh I see”

EEK: hate, despise, yuck